Orleans Library gears up for its 100th birthday

The Orleans Public Library is celebrating 100 years of service to the community this year. Its centennial activities throughout the year have been a Centennial Book Club - reading a book each month that was a best seller in 1915 which was the year the library was built. Orleans Library is accepting quilt blocks from library patrons and will make a Centennial Quilt. Orleans Library is sponsoring a Flat Andy (Andrew Carnegie cut out) Photo contest where patrons submit photos of themselves and Flat Andy at other libraries around the world. The winner is the patron who submits a picture that is the farthest away from Orleans. On September 11, 2015, Orleans Library will host An Affair Remembered Gala inviting the public to tour the library, see displays, listen to chamber music, and historical speakers while enjoying hors d'ouerves and desserts. Orleans Library will be making an announcement that it will be building an addition on to its current structure and we will host a ground breaking ceremony that evening.

New Gale education tools available online

Now available through Gale's In Context suite of products is the ability for students to seamlessly login using Google Account credentials. The Gale In Context products that will provide this new Google functionality include Biography, Canada, Opposing Viewpoints, Science, Student Resources, U.S. History and World History. Now a Google for Education* partner, this new relationship supports Gale's efforts to evolve from a traditional library content provider into the ed tech space by providing the educational technology, instructional tools and content to help our users be successful in school, work and life.

What's New?

Some of the changes you'll see include:

- Seamless User Login: users can login to their Gale In Context

Interim Director at Ohio County Public Library

Karen Jackson will be serving as the Interim Director of Ohio County Public Library. You can reach her at Karen@ocpl.lib.in.us

DPLA hosts GIF IT UP 2015

GIF IT UP is a public domain celebration. The Digital Public Library of America and DigitalNZ held the first-ever GIF IT UP in fall 2014. GIF IT UP 2015 is an international competition to find the best GIFs reusing public domain and openly licensed digital video, images, text, and other material available via our search portals.

The GIF IT UP 2014 competition had six categories:

1. Animals
2. Planes, trains, and other transport
3. Nature and the environment
4. Your hometown, state, or province
5. WWI, 1914-1918
6. GIF using a stereoscopic image
7. Open category (any reusable material from DigitalNZ or DPLA)

A winner was selected in each of these categories and, if necessary, a winner will be awarded in two fields: use of an animated still public domain image, and use of video material.

For more information on GIF IT UP 2015, please visit the DPLA website.

- Integrated Google tools: once logged in, users can easily share and download articles—including their highlights and notes—using Google Apps for Education tools like Drive and Docs.

- Improved access: schools and libraries can provide students with access to their resources via apps available for free download through the Chrome Web Store and Google Apps for Education. These product apps will provide an additional way and make it even easier for students, schools and public library patrons to easily access resources from their tablets and mobile devices.

Coming Soon

This fall Gale plans to integrate similar apps, authentication and tools within some of Gale's other leading product families including the widely used GVRL, InfoTrac, and Kids InfoBits platforms.

As a Google for Education partner, Gale uses the most current and popular Google tools to support students as they develop key study and organizational skills. By integrating leading resources into its platforms – such as Google Apps for Education, a free suite of tools that includes Gmail, Classroom, Drive, Docs, and more – Gale helps educators improve student engagement, encourage collaboration and foster critical thinking – from anywhere and on any device.*

TASC Test Prep Now Included in Testing & Education Reference Center

Amber Painter is hosting a webinar on July 29th with FSSA Communications Director Jim Gavin regarding HIP 2.0.

Mr. Gavin will provide an overview of Hip 2.0, the new Healthy Indiana Plan. The webinar will cover who qualifies, how to apply, and where to obtain marketing materials. In addition, Amber Painter will provide information on how libraries can partner with healthcare navigators to assist patrons with the application process.

This webinar is worth 1 LEU and you may register for this event by clicking here.

BOOKS IN MOTION Storytime Trainings coming soon

Julie Dietzel-Glair brings her storytime expertise to Indiana to present Books in Motion training at 5 locations in the state!

These trainings will be worth 3 Library Education units (3 LEUs) and include information about incorporating more movement while reading aloud, along with great book suggestions for this practice.

Do you want to jump, sing, dance, wiggle, stretch, and draw with preschoolers while reading books to them in storytime? Discover many ways to include movement during the books rather than just in between the books. This interactive program will have participants up and moving with the shared books and ideas. All activities based on the book titled Books in Motion: Connecting Preschoolers with

Books through Art, Games, Movement, Music, Playacting, and Props by Julie Dietzel-Glair and published by ALA Editions (Neal-Schuman) in 2013 which includes

TASC test preparation is now included in Testing & Education Reference Center. Now you can practice for the test online, zero in on your strengths and weaknesses, and make sure you're ready.

- Take 2 timed, full-length TASC practice tests from each of the five subject areas.

- Find detailed answer explanations for every question.

- Use what you learn to target your study time.

There are five subtests included in TASC test:

- Language Arts - Reading—tests your proficiency at understanding, interpreting, and analyzing informational and literary texts.

- Language Arts - Writing—tests your knowledge of sentence structure, usage, and mechanics, and your ability to create and organize ideas in writing using standard, American-written English.

- Mathematics—tests your skill at solving quantitative problems requiring numerical operations, measurement, estimation, data interpretation, and logical thinking. A calculator is allowed for the first portion of the test.

- Social Studies—tests your knowledge of the basic principles of U.S. and world history, political science, geography, and economics.

- Science—tests your knowledge of topics such as physics, chemistry, botany, zoology, health, and astronomy. You will also have demonstrated your ability to interpret scientific data 500 titles suitable for a movement filled storytime.

For more information on Julie Dietzel-Glair and Books in Motion, please visit her website.
