

Zionsville Pride is in Zionsville.

It's back-to-school week, and as parents of queer kids—and kids who sometimes feel othered—it means so much to see signs like this outside classroom doors.

Thank you to the educators who are intentional about creating safe, welcoming spaces for all students. School isn't always easy for our kiddos, but knowing there are adults ready to affirm and support them eases our minds in ways that are hard to put into words.

We spotted these signs outside several doors at Zionsville West Middle School during back-to-school days, and truly—it means the world.
