IN THE MATTER OF DISPATCH UPDATE/PROGRESS:

Sheriff Steve Rogers: This is in response to the dispatch concerns of August 17, 2015 when representatives from the city of Kokomo brought complaints to the Howard County Board of Commissioners concerning the Howard County Dispatch Center. Sheriff Rogers's description of how complaints have been addressed:

- On September 1st representatives from city and county government were invited to start a process of review and evaluation of alleged complaints. This meeting included the police chief, fire chief, sheriff, dispatch director, along with the city and county executives. From this meeting a working group composed of personnel from all public safety entities were tasked with sorting through the allegations.

- This group has met 3 times, but have been in continued communications since mid-September. The working group looked at the complaint allegations and the director, Gary Bates, has also assessed the overall 911 center operation. The majority of the alleged complaints received from the city of Kokomo, some which dated back to 2011, had previously been addressed and dealt with by city police, city fire, and Howard County dispatch personnel long before August 2015. There had been continual dialog between city and county employee since dispatch consolidation in 2011.
- Some of the complaint allegations were the result of a new computer aided dispatch software which replaced an old software program. The changeover process required most of 2014 to complete and issues continued to be addressed. Remaining complaint allegations were found to be misunderstandings, miscommunication, and as expected human error was found in a very few complaints. Sheriff Rogers said he had previously stated there were 100,000 telephone calls since 2011. It should be closer to a million, dispatch gets approximately 250,000 calls a year.
- The remaining complaints are the result of confusing policies carried over before the 2011 consolidation. Prior to 2011 city employed dispatchers worked alongside county dispatchers utilizing different standard operating procedures (SOP). Some pre-consolidation city SOP and policy was utilized to facilitate the transition. Some confusion and excessive telephone traffic has resulted from the pre-consolidation procedures. While there were good intentions by all public safety personnel working through the transition to a consolidated dispatch center, it has become apparent that a uniform SOP and policy will help reduce non-essential work and confusion.
- Some examples of procedure changes resulting from the review of the working group are:
 - Police related non-emergency calls will no longer be triaged at dispatch.
 - No administrative or non-police related business will be processed by the 911 dispatchers.
 - Effective December 1, 2015, citizens of Kokomo, Greentown, Russiaville, and unincorporated Howard County will be instructed to call 911 for emergencies and 457-1105 for non-emergency law enforcement needs.
 - To help minimize future confusion, the software was provided to the Kokomo fire department allowing the access of recorded 911 telephone and radio calls at their administrative office.
 - A complaint form and procedure has been created allowing for the tracking and the documentation of the resolution of dispatch complaints.
 - Currently there is a discussion concerning the standardization of fire alert tones for Kokomo fire department and all volunteer fire departments. The pending P25 radio project may provide options to help streamline fire and medical dispatching.
- Our intent is to keep in communication with all public safety entities and provide all Howard County residents with the best 911 emergency service possible.

Sheriff Rogers would like to thank KPD and KFD personnel that have, and he hopes will continue, to work with the dispatch center to resolve issues as they may occur. The citizens of Howard County can have full confidence and trust in the men and women working in public safety to include the 911 dispatch center. Director Bates fielded the following questions from President Wyman:

- Were there boxes of complaints delivered to county government regarding dispatch? – Sheriff Rogers: There were a few complaints contained in a small cardboard box. Most complaints originated from 2011 forward and had already been addressed by the working group for the transition/consolidation.
- Provide an example of a non-emergency or administrative type calls that dispatch has been dealing with over the years. – Sheriff Rogers & Gary Bates: Answering two (2) telephone lines for the KPD. Over years 459-5101 police non-emergency transferred to dispatch and had nothing to do with dispatch. i.e. City bus line, humane society, etc. 39% of calls received were non-related to law enforcement. Will implement dial 457-1105 for non-emergency police call will reduce this. Terminating lines coming to dispatch will cut down non-essential calls.
- During your investigation do you believe dispatch was ever in disarray? – Sheriff Rogers: No. I think the community understands that we can't be perfect but they do expect us to operate at the highest level we possibly can. There were some human errors but are very few (small) based on volume of calls and they are corrected by dispatcher quickly. Citizens should have high level of confidence in emergency 911 dispatch.

Larry Murrell commended Sheriff Rogers for his professional way of handling this issue considering the way it was presented. Because he is professional and dedicated to the public safety of the citizens of Howard County the sheriff reached out and worked through this and the report is evidence the sheriff was able to bring the issue to a conclusion to solve the problem while being a consummate professional.
