Dillon talked to Keith Gillenwater about this but didn't have the ordinance to be able to review it before voting. Hann made a motion to approve Ordinance 2022-85-07. Baker said that future costs can come out of the Commissary, but was waiting until after the jail is done before spending those funds. Dillon made a motion to approve the cost with Baker meeting with the Auditor to work out the additional appropriation prior to the next council meeting. Dale seconded the motion; it passed by a 6-0 vote.

Prosecuting Attorney Bill Hartley explained that when reviewing what other investigators make, he found that his person was underpaid. Harley explained that this person is a law enforcement officer and that the classification of the job should have been that of a detective. Hartley went to the PAC committee and the raise was approved. Pearson expressed concern with changing the salary in the middle of the year; she does not want other offices to follow suit. Mize made a motion to approve the request and directed Hartley to budget the new salary in the next year. Dale seconded the motion; it passed by a 5-1 (Pearson) vote.

MILEAGE: Some requests have been received to review the current mileage paid by the county. The county currently pays .44 per mile. The State is currently re-evaluating every three months with the current rate at .48 per mile. The Federal rate is 58.5 per mile and we have been at .44 per mile since 2011. Bowman asked for reports on how much mileage we pay, if the departments will be able to pay in their current budget, and how much other counties pay. Auditor Shepherd said she would gather this information for the next meeting.

The 2022 Wabash County Circuit Breaker Report was reviewed by the council.

JAIL UPDATE: Commissioner Haupert said that the jail is moving along and that the main contractor Kettelhut is impressive. Haupert encouraged the council to stop by the site and see the progress.

Brian Swihart, Chief Probation Officer, presented the council with the Court Services Organizational Chart as they had previously requested. Wabash Court Services has 30 employees; Wabash County pays the salary for 9 full-time positions (6 probation officers and 3 support staff), two part-time positions, and two partial full-time positions (majority of salary funded through a grant). Swihart explained that when Community Corrections and Probation merged to become Wabash County Court Services, both departments are eligible to receive grant funding from the Indiana Office of Court Services and the Indiana Department of Correction. For calendar year 2022, Court Services will receive $822,818 in grant funding, with more funding approvals expected. Council thanked Swihart for providing the information. Mize requested Swihart research other counties same size and let council know how many officers they have compared to Wabash County.
