- B. If applicable, describe the nature and extent of your practice of law (present and former), and provide the names of your partners, associates, office mates, and employers.

Before accepting a full-time professorship for the 2024-2025 academic school year, I was a partner in the Fort Wayne, Indiana, Indianapolis, Indiana and Los Angeles, California offices of Barnes & Thornburg LLP, an Am Law 100 law firm, and managed cases from New York to California. I have also been a litigation attorney in the San Francisco, California office of Gordon Rees Scully Mansukhani LLP, an Am Law 200 law firm.

In these roles, for nearly 13 years, I represented governmental, publicly traded, and private companies in complex commercial, product liability, personal injury, environmental, intellectual property, and antitrust matters in state and federal courts throughout the United States. My representation spanned various industries, including drug and medical device; cosmetics; oil, energy, and gas; agriculture; food and beverage; automotive; biotechnology; banking and finance; internet and technology; healthcare; real estate; higher education; and aviation and defense.

I was also a member of the team assisting the Special Compliance Coordinator appointed by the U.S. Department of Commerce to monitor, assess and report on the U.S. export control compliance of Zhongxing Telecommunications Equipment Corporation, of Shenzhen, China, and ZTE Kangxun Telecommunications Ltd. of Hi-New Shenzhen, China (collectively, ZTE). In this role, I led a sub-team of attorneys and financial experts in monitoring, investigating, and reporting on ZTE's compliance with U.S. export control regulations in relation to crisis contingency protocols. My general law practice included regularly assisting clients with navigating federal and internal corporate investigations.

My pro bono work includes assisting domestic violence survivors (mostly women and children) with obtaining protective orders and navigating other family law matters; assisting incarcerated individuals with petitioning for compassionate release under the 2018 First Step Act; and handling matters at the request of Indiana Legal Services.

In February 2024, I transitioned from my law firm partnership to accept a visiting professorship at IU Robert H. McKinney School of Law in Indianapolis, Indiana. In this role, I am developing coursework for Contract and Sales, Contract Drafting, and Constitutional Law classes I will be teaching during the Fall 2024 and Spring 2025 terms.

5. Trial/Judicial Experience

- A. Describe the extent of your jury trial experience, if any.

As a member of a national trial defense team in the multijurisdictional and multibillion-dollar talc (baby powder) mass tort litigation, I actively participated in trial strategy and preparation; jury selection and expert jury consultancy; witness preparation and examination; preparation of exhibits and demonstratives; drafting opening and closing arguments.

Additionally, during law school, I served as a judicial intern for criminal trial court Judge William Hanrahan of the Dane County Circuit Court in Wisconsin. In this role, I viewed the judicial process from the perspective of the decision maker. I was able to observe the court system from the inside; learn about the work of judges and their law clerks; and evaluate the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of lawyers appearing before the courts. I was further tasked with various research and writing assignments related to the specific cases in the court, including evidentiary motions, and sentencing recommendations.

B. Describe the extent of your bench trial experience, if any.

Not applicable.

C. If applicable, describe the nature and extent of your judicial experience (including as a judge pro tempore). Include a description of your experience presiding over jury trials, if any.

Not applicable.

6. Professional Experience

As part of your Supplemental Materials, include as writing samples four selections (in total) from the written materials listed below in Questions 6A through 6C.*

A. If applicable, list up to five trial or appellate briefs and/or judicial opinions you have written. Refer to them by caption, case number, and filing date.

- i. AMG Employee Management, Inc. v. Recognition Systems, LLC et al., Superior Court for the State of California, County of Los Angeles, Case No. 22STcv31129, filed December 13, 2022
- ii. Geary et al. v. Chase Bank Card Services, Inc. United States District Court for the Northern District of Indiana, Case No. 1:20cv00221, filed June 17, 2020

B. If applicable, list up to five legislative drafts or court rules you have written or to which you contributed significantly. Refer to them by official citation, date, and subject matter.

- i. Ind. H.B. 1565 (2007): Inmate disease testing.

C. If applicable, list up to five of your contributions to legal journals or other legal publications. Provide titles, official citations, and a brief description of the subject matter.

- i. Apryl Underwood, Rejecting Milward: A ‘weight of the evidence’ methodology is no methodology at all, NAT. LAW REVIEW, July 30, 2012, <https://natlawreview.com/article/rejecting-milward-weight-evidence-methodology-no-methodology-all>
 - a. Description: Evaluated First Circuit’s seemingly misapplication of Daubert and its federal progeny in Milward v. Acuity Specialty Products Group, Inc., 639 F.3d 11 (1st Cir. 2011)
- ii. Joesph Eaton, Kara Kapke, & Apryl Underwood, Genetic testing of a plaintiff – The pros and cons, FOR THE DEFENSE Jan. 2012
 - a. Description: Offered a primer on the impact of genetic testing in products liability litigation, including practical tips for whether, when and how to test a plaintiff.

D. Identify the five most significant legal matters entrusted to you, whether as a judge or lawyer, and describe why you believe them to be so.

Andrew Jackson reflected in 1822: “[a]ll the rights secured to the citizens under the Constitution are worth nothing, and a mere bubble, except guaranteed to them by an independent and virtuous Judiciary.” As a corporate litigator handling “bet-the-company” litigation, a lawyer providing pro bono assistance to victims of domestic violence and terminally-ill prisoners, and a mother who has had to navigate the family court system for adjudication of issues impacting the single most important person in my life—my child, I appreciate the enormous reliance citizens place on judicial system to competently and impartially interpret the law. I have also experienced the real-life impact when courts fail to do so. I have observed how one court decision can impact the trajectory of a life, a business, or a community. The following matters have helped to shape this foundation:

- i. Domestic violence matters: In law school, I elected to take a domestic violence seminar to better understand the psychoemotional, financial, social, and legal frameworks impacting the pervasiveness of domestic violence. And when offered an opportunity, as a junior associate, to provide pro bono assistance to domestic violence survivors, I took it. While these matters were personally rewarding, as an active participant helping survivors reclaim control of their lives, the lessons I learned during this process made me a better lawyer and person. These matters taught me humility, empathy and nonjudgment, particularly when some clients chose to return to their abusive relationships. These matters taught me that no demographic is a monolith—every person is different. And providing the best legal advocacy requires hearing and seeing the person—not just the legal issues and circumstances at play.

- ii. Talc mass tort litigation: These matters provided a surgical analysis of the anatomy of American mass tort litigation, including the underpinning legal, social, and financial intersectionalities. I developed a deeper appreciation for the impacts on individual plaintiffs and defendants, the practice of law, and judicial process.
- iii. Prescription opioid mass tort litigation: The subject matter of these litigations—opioid addiction—was particularly sobering and laid bare the intersectionality of law and society. These matters presented larger multidisciplinary issues regarding opioid use (prescription and nonprescription); its impact on individuals, families, communities, local and state governments, manufacturers and distributors; its regulation; and the role of the judiciary in adjudicating matters interrelated to opioid use and addiction.
- iv. Compassionate release matters: Through a firm pro bono initiative, I had the opportunity to assist with compassionate release petitions under the 2018 First Step Act. These matters held particular significance because of the “extraordinary and compelling” circumstance of navigating advanced age and terminal illness within prison, and the prospect of dignified end-of-life care for successful petitioners.
- v. Alternative causation and genetic testing: This matter involved defending a manufacturer against product liability claims alleging teratogenic impacts from in utero exposure to the subject product. Genetic testing of the plaintiff supported an alternative genetic etiology for the plaintiff’s presentation. This matter was one of the first litigations that afforded an opportunity for me to utilize my biomedical background, including experience as a genetics researcher, with the practice of law, and laid the groundwork for what would become a niche practice in this area.

7. Efforts to Improve the Legal System, Administration of Justice, or Society

A. Describe your efforts, achievements, or contributions (including written work, speeches, or presentations) toward the improvement of the law, the legal system, or the administration of justice. Include a description of any management or leadership roles you undertook to achieve these goals and describe any specific instances in which your collaborative efforts helped achieve these goals.

Not applicable.

B. Describe your efforts, achievements, or contributions (including written work, speeches, or presentations) concerning civic, political, or social issues. Include a description of any management or leadership roles you undertook in this area, and describe any specific instances in which your collaborative efforts in this area led to a successful result.

- i. Member, Barnes & Thornburg LLP Racial and Social Justice Committee – External Initiatives: Responsible for identifying, vetting, and recommending investment opportunities or strategic partnerships with nonprofit organizations and/or initiatives in the areas of healthcare, education, economic and community development, and legal aid.

C. Describe your efforts, achievements, or contributions (including written work, speeches, or presentations) to improve your local, state, or national community through charitable work or public service. Include a description of any management or leadership roles you undertook in this area, and describe any specific instances in which your collaborative efforts in this area led to a successful result.

- i. Board Member, Northeast Indiana Regional Partnership (NEI): NEI is a public-private partnership with approximately 140 investors and represents the 11 counties of Northeast Indiana and convene economic development partners across the public, private and academic sectors. Its mission is to drive business investment and strengthen the region’s global competitiveness and economic resiliency. My work included advising on potential strategic partnerships and investment opportunities in Northeast Indiana.

D. Describe the nature and extent of any pro bono legal services you have contributed.

- i. Julian Center: represented domestic violence survivors in various family law matters including obtaining domestic violence restraining orders.
- ii. Indiana Legal Services, Inc.: provided legal counsel and assistance with various matters related upon request.
- iii. Barnes & Thornburg LLP’s Koch Industries Compassionate Release Pro Bono Partnership: provided counsel and assistance with compassionate release petitions under the 2018 First Step Act.
- iv. Habeas Corpus and Erroneous Sentence: assisted incarcerated persons with habeas petitions, and provided review and counsel related to claims of erroneous sentencing.

E. Indicate your experience teaching law. Provide the dates, names of institutions or programs, and a description of the subject matter taught.

- i. I am developing materials for Contracts and Sales, Contract Drafting and Constitutional Law courses, which I will be teaching at IU Robert H. McKinney School of Law during the Fall 2024 and Spring 2025 terms.
