I. Chafee Older Youth Services: Youth Development & Engagement

The John H. Chafee Foster Care Program for Successful Transition to Adulthood requires states that receive grant funding to ensure youth participation in leadership activities promoting youth development and engagement by directly designing their program activities. Formalized youth advisory boards form collaborative relationships and develop additional local, state, and national strategic alliances. These relationships strengthen the overall child welfare system by improving support and services available to older youth involved in foster care. Youth should be involved in the decision-making regarding activities and events, including conferences, youth speakers, recruitment, volunteering, and other youth servicing opportunities.

A. Authentic Youth Engagement

Youth should be able to participate in activities that promote positive growth and development. These activities should allow youth to shape their lives and communities. Authentic youth engagement is the framework in which the Indiana Department of Child Services (DCS) engages youth 14 – 23. The following pillars: youth voice, youth-adult partnership, relational permanency, teachable moments, healthy risk-taking, trauma-informed care, and adolescent brain development are the programmatic foundation of DCS Older Youth Initiatives. These foundational pillars will allow foster youth to practice problem-solving, build self-esteem, and increase their influence and personal stake in the community. The Youth Advisory Board (IYAB) shall provide authentic youth engagement by empowering youth to use their voice by expressing ideas, opinions, experiences, and knowledge in planning and decision-making. The Youth Advisory Board shall consider a youth's unique strengths, skills, interests, and needs (Jim Casey Youth Opportunities Initiative, 2014).

B. Leadership

Youth participating in IYAB will develop the knowledge and skills needed to become youth leaders, advocates, and mentors. Youth should engage in leadership opportunities, taking primary responsibility for strategic planning, decision-making, and problem-solving.

Youth leadership is part of the youth development process and supports the young person in developing:

1. The ability to analyze their strengths and weaknesses, set personal and vocational goals, and have the self-esteem, confidence, motivation, and abilities to carry them out (including the ability to establish support networks to participate in community life and effect positive social change fully); and
2. The ability to guide or direct others on a course of action, influence the opinions and behaviors of others, and serve as a role model (National Alliance for Secondary Education and Transition, NASET).

IYAB participation will allow young people to develop the ability to serve others in their communities and the ability to identify and use community resources. By engaging youth through teachable moments and healthy risk-taking, youth will be able to learn self-management techniques and successful adulthood skills. IYAB initiatives and activities should promote experiential learning, build social capital, and increase well-being (Jim Casey Youth Opportunities Initiative, 2014).

II. Indiana Youth Advisory Board

The Indiana Department of Child Service (DCS) Older Youth Initiatives Programs and Services supports authentic youth engagement and positive youth development by formally establishing the Indiana Youth Advisory Board (IYAB). The IYAB is a youth-led advisory board. It provides a forum for Indiana's foster youth to become involved in issues facing youth in care and aging out of foster care on a local, state, and national level. IYAB members will enhance their leadership, advocacy, and life skills through various activities, including public speaking, providing feedback to DCS systems, strategic planning, community engagement, social events, and activities promoting youths' successful adulthood transition.

A. IYAB Program Objectives

Data must be reported monthly regarding Older Youth services provided to youths 16 and older. Due to IYAB providing a youth service, the service provider must mark which service elements were provided to every youth during a reporting period. The information regarding service elements required for Chafee OY service providers to submit are in compliance with the Chafee National Youth in Transition Database, Final Rule, and all technical documents supporting the information described in this rule. Service Providers can be assigned usernames and passwords through the DCS NYTD helpdesk email (dc snytd@dc s.in.gov). The <http://www.in.gov/dcs/2793.htm> Service Provider will design a monthly report template approved by DCS. Please upload monthly reports on time or through the NYTD web portal to avoid denying all claims submitted for each reporting period, missing a monthly report.
