

FEMA's Online Status Tracker Is the Fastest Way to Check Your Application Status

FEMA's online status tracker is the fastest and easiest way for you to see the latest updates on your application for assistance. The status tracker is accessible 24/7 in your account on DisasterAssistance.gov.

What is the status tracker?

The status tracker is an online tool that provides the latest updates and next steps for your application. You will be able to see exactly where you are in the FEMA application process, including inspection status, eligibility decisions and any actions you need to take.

How do you access the status tracker?

- Go to DisasterAssistance.gov.
- Click "Check Status" and sign in or create an account.
- Once logged in, click the "Status" tab to see the status tracker for updates on your application or next steps you may need to take.

What should you look for in the status tracker?

Additional Information Needed

After you apply, sometimes FEMA will need additional information like an insurance settlement, copy of a receipt for disaster costs, or documents that confirm your identity and where you live.

Look for the section labeled "Your Next Steps" to see which documents FEMA needs from you and where you upload those documents.

FEMA Decisions and Appeals

If you are approved for FEMA assistance, the status tracker will show how much money you will get and what the money can be used for.

If you are not approved for FEMA assistance, the status tracker will explain what to do if you disagree with FEMA's decision. You will use the Upload Center to submit additional documents like repair estimates. Then we will take another look at your case.

If you need more help understanding your application status, you can:

- Visit a center for in-person help. Find the nearest location at www.in.gov/dhs/.
- Call FEMA's Helpline at 1-800-621-3362.
