Program Overview

Carey Michels, FSSA presented on the Indiana Pregnancy Promise Program. Promise is an acronym for their tagline which is Promoting Recovery from Opioid use, Maternal Infant support and Engagement. They are a fully funded program by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services through the federal government. The pregnancy promise program is part of a five-year cooperative agreement with the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services and their mission is to address pregnancy and substance use. They work with women in the beginning of their pregnancy to get them linked to maternity care, behavioral care, and generalized healthcare. This will carry through the entire pregnancy and labor and delivery as well as through the postpartum period addressing the needs of the infant and parent(s).

Eden Bezy from the Office of Maternal and Child Health presented on the 2021 Infant Mortality Data overview. Eden explained the priorities of the department, being that they manage basically from birth to post menopause for women, they ensure children get their newborn screens and if that comes back positive for any conditions, they get referred for care regarding that condition. They support many home visiting programs in the state and have a Nurse Family Partnership. She then reviewed the 2021 Infant Mortality Data report, it measured by race, ethnicity, compared to Indiana as a whole. The goal is to determine what is causing the infant deaths in these areas and how these can be prevented in the future from the county level all the way to the state level. They also do and provide this research information to better understand what gaps need filled involving the care of these populations.
