Comprehensive Assessed Value Report 2010-2012 (Taxes Payable 2011 - 2013)

Prepared by the Department of Local Government Finance
September 11, 2013

Introduction

This report presents an analysis of assessed value changes in Indiana from assessment year 2010 to assessment year 2012. The report relies on data submitted to the Department of Local Government Finance (“Department”). Specifically, the report analyzes parcel-level data submitted by county assessors and certified net assessed values submitted by county auditors. The report is split into three main sections and focuses on three changes in assessed values: changes in gross assessed values, net assessed values, and the number of parcels.

Key Terms Explained

The dollar value of property subject to taxation is called an assessed value. Two types of properties are subject to taxation in Indiana: real property and personal property. Real property is the interests, benefits and rights inherent in the ownership of physical real estate; in other words, it is the physical land and building improvements. Personal property typically involves moveable items, such as farm equipment and appliances not built to a structure. Gross assessed value is the assessed value for all real and personal property before deductions and exemptions are applied. Net assessed value is the gross assessed value of a property less any deductions, abatements, and exemptions and serves as the taxable value of a property. Certified net assessed value is total net assessed value as certified to the Department by each county auditor for the use in the calculation of tax rates. A taxing district is a geographical region that is served by the same taxing units

Report

The first section of the report shows the changes in gross assessed values. This section analyzes the changes in assessed values by real and personal property. Real and personal property gross assessed value changes are shown at the county level as well as statewide. The real property section separates parcels into “residential,” “commercial,” and “industrial” categories based upon the property class codes assigned by the Assessor. Additionally, taxing district changes in gross assessed values by property type can be found in Appendix A.

The second section focuses on changes in certified net assessed values. The certified net assessed values are presented to the Department by the county auditor for each taxing district and taxing unit. Certified net assessed values by taxing unit can be found in the Appendix B. The taxing district changes can be found in Appendix C.

The final section of the report focuses on the number of real property parcel types in Indiana. This section analyzes parcel count changes for all classes of property, and then also shows changes in several sub-classifications: industrial, commercial, residential, agricultural, mineral, exempt, and utility properties over a two-year period.

*Does not include LaPorte County for assessment years 2010 – 2012

Statewide, gross assessed value has decreased by 0.9 percent, approximately $3.7 billion, from assessment year 2011 to assessment year 2012. More than half of Indiana counties saw decreases during this time period. Dearborn, Jasper, Kosciusko, Vanderburgh and Vigo Counties saw decreases in their gross assessed value of more than 5 percent.

Even though a majority of counties saw decreases in their gross assessed value, some counties saw significant increases during this time period. Fourteen counties saw increases in their gross assessed value of more than 3 percent from assessment year 2011 to assessment year 2012. Miami County had one of the largest increases in their gross assessed value, roughly a 14.0 percent increase from assessment year 2011 to 2012.

*Does not include LaPorte County for assessment years 2010 – 2012

The gross assessed value of real property decreased slightly from assessment year 2011 to assessment year 2012, approximately 1.1 percent, roughly a $4.3 billion decrease. Of the three major types of properties (residential, industrial, and commercial), industrial properties saw the largest decrease in gross assessed value. From assessment year 2011, gross assessed values for industrial properties declined 5.4 percent statewide. More than one half of the counties saw decreases in their gross assessed value of industrial properties of more than 2.0 percent. Vigo County had one of the largest decreases in industrial assessed value at 26.0 percent, approximately a $103 million decrease.

Residential properties saw a minor decrease in gross assessed value compared to other property types. From assessment year 2011 to assessment year 2012, residential gross assessed value decreased by $230 million, a tenth of a percent. Sixteen counties saw residential growth of 3 percent or greater. Vermillion County had the highest increase in residential assessed value at 16.2 percent.

Data and Methodology

This report relies on parcel-level data submitted to the Department by the county assessor, and covers only those 91 counties that have submitted real property data files for assessment year 2012. LaPorte County has not yet submitted their real property data files. Counties that are not compliant for assessment year 2012 are still included in the report and are noted with an asterisk. All of the 91 real property data files received are compliant with the data standards set forth in 50 IAC 26.

The changes in personal property cover those 91 counties that have submitted their personal property data files for assessment year 2012 to the Department. LaPorte County has not yet submitted personal property files. Of the 91 personal property data files received, 90 are compliant with the data standards set forth in 50 IAC 26 Delaware County is not compliant but is included in the report and is noted with an asterisk. .

The real property assessed value changes separate parcels into the “residential,” “commercial,” and “industrial” categories based upon the property class code assigned to the parcel by the assessor. Total assessed value is summed in each category for the three years and the Department calculates the percentage change. The total assessed value is not adjusted for changes in the number of parcels; if the number of parcels in a class increases, the assessed value change would reflect that increase. Therefore, these increases are the total change in assessed value and are not necessarily indicative of the assessed value change in the average parcel.

Data at the taxing district level is included in Appendix A. The taxing district information is taken from the county assessor’s parcel-level data and matched to the state-assigned taxing district number list for each county. If for a given taxing district in a particular year, there were no properties of the given type, its entry reads “no such property” and any associated percentage change comparison would also read “no such property.” If one or more records in the parcel-level data do not have a taxing district matching one of the state-assigned numbers, the record is included in the report but the taxing district is indicated by “(Taxing District Unspecified),” signifying that the Department was unable to match the district code provided to one of the state-assigned district numbers.

Fluctuations in certified net assessed values by county and taxing district are an important metric since changes affect tax rates, causing rates to either increase or decrease. A lower net assessed value would result in a higher tax rate. Likewise, a higher net assessed value would result in a lower tax rate. Although the amount of the levy for a unit has a large impact on the final tax bill, changes in assessed values also changes the property tax burden.

Over the past two years, statewide certified net assessed values have increased $1.2 billion from $262.1 billion in assessment year 2010 to $263.3 billion in assessment year 2012. Several counties saw substantial growth during this period. Eleven counties had an average annual increase in their certified net assessed values of more than 5 percent. Knox County had one of the largest average annual increases, roughly of 13.8 percent increase from assessment year 2010 to 2012.

Statewide certified net assessed values decreased from assessment year 2011 to assessment year 2012. Vanderburgh County had one of the largest declines in their certified net assessed values. From assessment year 2011 to assessment year 2012, their certified net assessed values went from approximately $7.1 billion to $6.6 billion, a decrease of 7.3 percent.

Several counties saw substantial increases in their net assessed values from assessment year 2011 to assessment year 2012. Seven counties saw substantial increases in their net assessed values of over 5 percent. Pulaski County had one of the largest increases in certified net assessed values from assessment year 2011 to assessment year 2012, an increase of 10.9 percent, approximately $78 million.

*Does not include LaPorte County for assessment years 2010– 2012

Statewide, counties' and schools' net assessed values decreased from assessment year 2011 to assessment year 2012 by approximately 0.5 percent. In addition, cities/towns across the state saw their net assessed values decrease by 1.5 percent, approximately a $1.9 billion decrease during the same time period.

Data and Methodology

Data for this section is taken from the certified net assessed values as presented to the Department by the county auditor for each taxing district and taxing unit. The changes in certified net assessed values cover all 91 counties that have certified their values.

If a given taxing unit and/or district was not active in a particular assessment year, its entry reads “Inactive” and any associated percentage change comparison would also read “Inactive.” Statewide figures are presented by summing the total certified net assessed value in all counties for which data is available. In order to ensure consistency, for taxing units with a general fund, the report lists the certified net assessed value of the general fund. For taxing units without a general fund, the most relevant fund was chosen.

Units included in the “Special” category encompass a wide range of units levying property taxes. They include airport authorities, solid waste districts, fire protection districts, public transportation districts, and consolidated city-county units.

*Does not include LaPorte County for assessment years 2010 – 2012

In assessment year 2012, approximately 92 percent of the state’s gross assessed value was composed of real property assessed value. A majority of the statewide real property assessed value comes from three property types: residential properties, commercial properties, and industrial properties. Therefore, fluctuations in the number of these properties as well as changes in these types of properties’ assessed values will cause changes in gross assessed value, which can affect the tax rates and property tax bills.

The number of parcels across all properties has decreased from assessment year 2010 to 2012. However, three counties saw increases of 2 percent or greater over this period: Daviess, Orange, and Monroe Counties.

Compared to all other types of properties statewide, commercial properties had the largest decline in the number of parcels since assessment year 2010. Over the two year period, the number of commercial properties decreased by 2.6 percent. During this same time period, industrial properties saw a 1.2 percent increase.

Statewide, the number of residential parcels has declined since assessment year 2010 to 2012. However, seventeen counties showed a 2 percent or greater increase in the number of residential parcels. Vermillion County had one of the largest increases in residential parcels, a 10.4 percent increase. When comparing assessment year 2010 to assessment year 2012, the average county saw a 0.1 percent decreases in their number of residential properties; eighteen counties showed an increase of more than 1.0 percent.

Data and Methodology

This report relies on parcel-level data submitted to the Department by the county assessor, and covers only those 91 counties that have submitted real property data files for assessment year 2012. LaPorte County has not yet submitted their real property data files. All of the real property data files received are compliant with the data standards set forth in 50 IAC 26.

The report analyzes parcel count changes for all classes of property, and then also shows changes in several sub-classifications: industrial, commercial, residential, agricultural, mineral, exempt, and utility properties. To measure the parcel count, the Department takes the count of distinct parcel numbers by county for each given property class type. The property class is determined using the standard code as supplied by the county in their real property data submissions, and as such, the results of this report assume that the counties have applied the property class codes correctly.

If, for a given parcel, a property class code was used that does not conform to the standard code list as maintained jointly by the Department and Legislative Services Agency, that parcel would not be included in the sub-classification reports; however, since the all properties report makes no distinction as to the property class, that parcel would be included in that report. It is therefore to be expected that in some counties, the sum of all totals on the sub-classification reports may not match the overall property total.
