2/3/2025	South Spencer County School Corp		Small size. This district has a small overall student-tested population and it takes only a very few students participating in the I AM to exceed 1.0%, based on the State definition of "small.". The Indiana Department of Education (IDOE) defines a small Local Educational Agency (LEA) as one with 1,001–2,500 students. An extra small LEA is defined as one with 1,000 students or fewer.	South Spencer County School Corporation has approximately 1,020 students. Our communities have several Section 8 homes and that population tends to have higher rates of students that qualify for services. 2/3/2025	Seymour Community Schools		Program. This district includes specialized schools or programs, community programs, or health programs that draw large numbers of families with students with the most significant cognitive disabilities in the district. Small size. This district has a small overall student-tested population and it takes only a very few students participating in the I AM to exceed 1.0%, based on the State definition of "small.". The Indiana Department of Education (IDOE) defines a small Local Educational Agency (LEA) as one with 1,001–2,500 students. An extra small LEA is defined as one with 1,000 students or fewer.	Seymour Schools attracts students with more intensive needs due to our services and programming we provide, as compared to our surrounding districts. We also have a large population of English Language Learners moving to our area with more intensive needs. 2/3/2025	Madison Consolidated Schools		Small size. This district has a small overall student-tested population and it takes only a very few students participating in the I AM to exceed 1.0%, based on the State definition of "small.". The Indiana Department of Education (IDOE) defines a small Local Educational Agency (LEA) as one with 1,001–2,500 students. An extra small LEA is defined as one with 1,000 students or fewer.	We are very selective when recommending a student for I AM testing. We only recommend it for students with the most significant cognitive disabilities. We have fewer than 2500 students in district. We typically only have "At Proficiency" in one subject area and not across the board, but it is something we can look into in the future for consideration. 2/3/2025	Edinburgh Community School Corporation		Small size. This district has a small overall student-tested population and it takes only a very few students participating in the I AM to exceed 1.0%, based on the State definition of "small.". The Indiana Department of Education (IDOE) defines a small Local Educational Agency (LEA) as one with 1,001–2,500 students. An extra small LEA is defined as one with 1,000 students or fewer.	Edinburgh Community School Corporation has on average less than 800 total students across the school district. We are also in a community that has a high poverty rate, which also has an effect on the number of students who participate in I AM every year.	We do not have students who consistently score "At Proficiency" on I AM. Monroe Central 2/3/2025 School Corp	Small size. This district has a small overall student-tested population and it takes only a very few students participating in the IAM to exceed 1.0%, based on the State definition of "small.". The Indiana Department of Education (IDOE) defines a small Local Educational Agency (LEA) as one with 1,001–2,500 students. An extra small LEA is defined as one with 1,000 students or fewer.	Given Monroe Central School Corporation's enrollment of 1,035 students, the 1% cap on IAM participation would allow approximately 10 students to take the IAM assessment. If the number of students requiring IAM exceeds this threshold due to the small overall student population, the school would be over the participation cap. This overage is justified under the "Small Size" circumstance, as even a small increase in eligible students significantly impacts the percentage due to the district's relatively low total enrollment. This district includes specialized schools or programs, community programs, or health programs that draw large numbers of families with students with the most significant cognitive disabilities in the district.	We currently have 7 elementaries (K-3) and 5 of them have an essential skills program. We have created a district wide continuum that consist of three phases that have to be completed for a child to move into a different LRE. This is consistent with our Intermediate (4-6), Junior High (7-8) and High School. We have a Sped Services and Continuum Coordinator that works with our programs to make sure we are following the procedures with fidelity. We meet as a district SPED team to make sure we are creating a vertical alignment of communication amongst all grade bands. We are currently seeing a large increase in families with high needs students moving into our district to take advantage of our programming. Furthermore we have pulled in the TA center to help support UDL models to try to address our overage of the 1%. Additionally with the requirement to test via IAM for the alternative diploma, has increased our population of IAM testers. as we now have two diplomas that take IAM.	We do not have students who consistently score "At Proficiency" on IAM. The involvement of parents/guardians in the IEP decision-making process is crucial, and ENSC has several mechanisms in place to support and engage parents in this process. Case conferences include school staff as well as parents who actively participate in the IEP development process. These meetings include discussions about the child's strengths, needs, goals as well as progress towards goals. Parents are notified about IEP meetings in advance. Clear communication about the purpose of the meeting, the topics to be discussed, and any relevant documents is essential to ensure parents are well-informed. Additionally, we may provide training sessions to parents to educate them about their rights, the special education process, and ways to advocate for their child. This helps parents understand the IEP process and empowers them to actively participate. For families with limited English proficiency, we offer translation and interpretation services to ensure that parents can fully understand and participate in the IEP process. We provide parents with copies of relevant documents (such as draft IEPs, assessment reports, etc.) before the meeting, allowing parents time to review and prepare questions or concerns. Regular parent-teacher conferences can provide opportunities for ongoing communication about a child's progress and any necessary adjustments to the IEP. Our administration and staff are informed as to the criteria necessary to be eligible for the IAM assessment. During the CC process, the discussion of testing must be documented, and the criteria must be met before any alternative assessment can be considered.	We do not have students who consistently score "At Proficiency" on IAM.	Kari Walmer	https://doe.jotform.com/uploads/IDOEWebmaster/24365497899/9183/6147619024111/268046/6147619024111268046_signature_33.png	kari.walmer@whitko.org

Elkhart Community 2/18/2025 Schools	Increase of move-in or initially identified/enrolled students identified as Moderate/Severe Cognitive, Multiple Disabilities, and Autism. Compounded by decreased enrollment of general education students.	Elkhart is a diverse community with a variety of local housing options including increased amounts of government subsidized housing which has been a haven for displaced immigrants. General trends in the community have led to overall increased numbers of students identified with disabilities, specifically those without proper care, access to school, or identification. Additionally, ABA centers are discontinuing services for students who 'are not making progress' - many of which have never attended a school setting and have very complex needs on the Autism spectrum. While we have district systems in place to monitor and properly decide the participation of IAM, move-in and recently identified students are entering between 3-10th grade who are being identified as Moderate/Severe Cognitive, Multiple Disabilities, and Autism. This district includes specialized schools or programs, community programs, or health programs that draw large numbers of families with students with the most significant cognitive disabilities in the district.	Some of the hypotheses we have related to this include the following. 1) ABA facilities have blown up exponentially in our area which is a mixture of rural and suburban areas. Due to this we are having high needs students coming into our schools. We have created a specialized Autism program and have had families moving from other nearby districts and other states to be a part of. 2) Additionally, we have a lot of students with IEPs moving into our district. We have realtors, pediatricians, and parent groups that continually market our corporation for the good schools and supports to our special needs students. 3) The question below has raised an additional factor we need to look at. I do not believe we have done a good job of that and will look at this in our next audit.
