Course Description:

French is one of the world's most spoken languages. This course, a continuation of French II, will continue to focus on introducing students to the both language structures and the cultures of the Francophone world. Grammatical topics will include: the present tense, the passé composé, the imparfait, the future tense, the conditional, and direct and indirect object pronouns. Vocabulary and cultural themes will include: family, leisure activities, travel, celebrations, clothing, occupations, and future plans. These themes will help students to develop interpersonal, interpretive and presentational language skills.
