SUBJECT: INDOT Storm Water Management Field Guide

The Construction Management Division in conjunction with the Environmental Services Division has created a Storm Water Management Field Guide. It is the result of the Joint Transportation Research Program project and intended to provide guidance on the critical factors of erosion and sediment control.

The Guide provides visual and conceptual references for INDOT projects requiring storm water management, including photographs of Best Management Practices (BMPs) as well as a decision matrix to facilitate determining which control features to consider. The Guide has INDOT Standard Specifications and Standard Drawings references provided throughout which should be used as a tool for additional information. However, the Guide itself is not intended as a contract document or design standard.

The Storm Water Management Field Guide is available at https://www.in.gov/indot/files/Indiana_Storm_Water_Field_Guide.pdf
