

Indiana State Loan Repayment Program (IN-SLRP)

Overview

September 2026

The Indiana State Loan Repayment Program (IN-SLRP) is a workforce retention program that provides student loan repayment to eligible health professionals to encourage the full-time delivery of primary care, mental, and dental healthcare services at practices located in federally designated health professional shortage areas (HPSAs) in Indiana. HPSAs are geographic areas, population groups, or healthcare facilities that have been designated by the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) as having a shortage of health professionals.

IN-SLRP recipients may receive up to $40,000 to repay their outstanding student loans in exchange for a minimum 2-year service commitment (full-time). Participants may reapply for the program once for additional financial support and service commitment.

Frequently Asked Questions

Who is eligible to apply?

Providers who work in an eligible discipline must work in a federally designated HSPA site that corresponds to their training and/or discipline to qualify for IN-SLRP. Full eligibility information can be found here.

Are there additional participation requirements, other than a service commitment?

Yes. IN-SLRP participants will submit a total of five Provider Activity Reports (PARs) during their contract period. Participants will also need to complete an entire ECHO learning project.

How do I submit my application and supporting documents?

Applications and supporting documents can be submitted digitally through the application link on the IN-SLRP webpage when the application period is open. If technical difficulties arise, email SLRP@health.IN.gov.

Note: Awards made through IN-SLRP are NOT taxable. Total award amounts are subject to available funding.
