

Indiana State Loan Repayment Program (IN-SLRP)

Overview

NOVEMBER 2024

The Indiana State Loan Repayment Program (IN-SLRP) is a workforce retention program that provides student loan repayment to health professionals to encourage the full-time delivery of primary care, mental, and dental healthcare services at practices located in federally designated health professional shortage areas \(HPSAs\) in Indiana. HPSAs are geographic areas, population groups, or healthcare facilities that have been designated by the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) as having a shortage of health professionals.

IN-SLRP recipients can receive up to $40,000 to repay their outstanding student loans in exchange for two years of service. Participants may reapply once for an additional two-year service term.

Frequently Asked Questions

Who is eligible to apply?

Providers who work in an eligible discipline must work in a federally designated HPSA site that corresponds to their training and/or discipline to qualify for IN-SLRP. Full eligibility information can be found here.

Are there additional participation requirements, other than a service commitment?

Yes. IN-SLRP participants will submit a total of 5 Provider Activity Reports (PARs) during their contract period. Participants will also need to complete an ECHO Learning Project. For more details about the ECHO and (PARs) requirements, visit the IN-SLRP webpage.

How do I submit my application and supporting documents?

Applications and supporting documents can be submitted digitally through the application link on the IN-SLRP webpage. If technical difficulties arise, contact the IN-SLRP team: SLRP@health.in.gov
