Book Reception Saturday, June 28—11:00 A.M.-1:30 P.M.

All books in the Indiana Historical Bureau Book Shop will be 20% off June 28

The Indiana Historical Bureau Book Shop is hosting two well-known Hoosier authors—Julie Young and Andrew Stoner—on Saturday, June 28 from 11:00 A.M. to 1:30 P.M. in the Indiana State Library and Historical Building at 315 West Ohio Street in downtown Indianapolis. Recently released books by Young and Stoner will be sold at 20% off list price. Parking will be available at the Senate Avenue Parking Facility, 220 North Senate Avenue, for a flat fee of $3.00. Street parking will also be available.

Visit the Historical Bureau website at www.IN.gov/history or call 317-232-2535 to place pre-orders. There will be limited book quantities at the reception.

Julie Young, will be on hand to sign her recently released book, Historic Irvington (list price $19.90, paper). Young covers many of Irvington's local events for the Indianapolis Star. She is author of A Belief in Providence: A Life of Saint Theodora Guerin and also writes for a number of local, regional, and national publications, including Indianapolis Monthly magazine, AAA's Home & Away, and CNN.com. She has written for the Associated Press, has appeared on The Oprah Winfrey Show, and serves as adjunct faculty for Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis. Young worked with the support of the Irvington Historical Society on this project and lives in Indianapolis with her two sons.

Andrew E. Stoner, an Indianapolis-based writer, will sign his book, Notorious 92: Indiana's Most Heinous Murders in All 92 Counties, (list price $19.95, paper). Stoner served in Governor Frank O'Bannon's administration as deputy press secretary from 2001 to 2003; in 2006 he published the acclaimed biography Legacy of a Governor: The Life of Indiana's Frank O'Bannon. Stoner holds undergraduate and graduate degrees in journalism from both Franklin College of Indiana and Ball State University.
