FUNDING FOR FISH & WILDLIFE

The DNR Division of Fish & Wildlife sells hunting, fishing, and trapping licenses. All revenue is used for managing fish and wildlife resources in Indiana. No license money goes into the state general fund.

The Division also receives money from the federal Sport Fish and Wildlife Restoration programs (sometimes referred to as Dingell-Johnson and Pittman-Robertson funds). The funds are derived from excise taxes levied on sporting arms and ammunition, bows and arrows, fishing equipment and motor boat fuel. The funds are then returned to state fish and wildlife agencies using a formula that in part is based on the number of fishing and hunting license buyers.

The area was striped of coal between the 1940s and 1990s. About half the striped area was not reclaimed and is considered “stripper hills” and the other half has been returned to approximate original contour. 454 acres of Chinook were originally leased as a State Fishing Area in 1982. In 1996, the State purchased the original area and an additional plot of almost 2,000 acres. There are nearly 200 acres of water on Chinook across several pits and other water sources. In 2013, 55.59 acres were purchased and added.
