Re: UrbanPlan: An Interactive Workshop About the Development Process

IHCDA is pleased to partner with ULI Indiana to bring ULI's UrbanPlan program to Indiana. Their first workshop will be held on Friday, Jan. 25 from 9:00 am – 4:00 pm at the Indiana State Library, History Reference Room in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Participation is free but registration is required. Click here to register.

This workshop is useful for people who are relatively new to the land development process as well as to those who are very experienced in one part of the process but want a better understanding of the big picture.

Participants in other ULI District Councils have included Mayors, City Councilors, Planning Commissioners, municipal staff, neighborhood leaders, and more.

They will be joined by trained volunteers from ULI's membership which includes developers, designers, engineers, attorneys, financiers, planners, and other land use and real estate professionals. Click here to learn more about the Volunteer Training on Monday, Jan. 7.

Since the case study is hypothetical, you can be from anywhere across the state and still benefit from this workshop.

Please contact Carmen Lethig at clethig@ihcda.in.gov for any questions.

About UrbanPlan

UrbanPlan is a program developed by the Urban Land Institute to engage communities in an interactive dialogue about the challenging issues, varying private and public sector roles, complex tradeoffs, and economics that are at play in land use and development decisions.
