For what can the funds be used?

- Closing costs and down payment assistance to acquire the foreclosed home.
- Rehabilitation funds to bring the foreclosed home up to local building code.

Is this a grant or a loan?

- This is a zero-interest, non-amortizing second mortgage loan.
- The funds are not required to be repaid if the property remains the homebuyer's principal residence for at least ten years.

What is the source of funding for MSP?

- As a result of the Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008 (HERA), HUD created the Neighborhood Stabilization Program (NSP) to mitigate the neighborhood effects of foreclosures in areas of greatest need. HUD allocated more than $150 million to Indiana, with $84 million going to IHEDA to distribute throughout the state.
- Utilizing $33 million of its NSP funds, IHEDA designed the Market Stabilization Program to assist income-eligible households in purchasing and rehabilitating foreclosure.
- The remaining $51 will be awarded to communities across the state in need of comprehensive neighborhood revitalization.

Who is eligible for the program?

- Eligible Applicants are home buyers that are at or below 120% of area median income.

- Home buyers must complete eight hours of pre-purchase education provided by an IHEDA certified or HUD certified counselor.

How can people get more information about the program?

- Specialized lender and realtor trainings are being conducted by IHEDA.

- Home buyers should use our online tool at www.IndianaHousingNow.org to determine a foreclosed property is in an eligible neighborhood.

How did you determine what neighborhoods were eligible?

- Every census block group in the state was evaluated for its qualification as a low-, moderate-, or middle-income area. That is, a census block group was considered an eligible area if more than 51 percent of the people in the area had incomes less than or equal to 120 percent of Area Median Income in 2000.
- Block groups that scored in the top 50 percent for at least four of the six following measures were selected as areas of greatest need.

Calculating the six measures:

- Areas with an estimated foreclosure risk score (computed by HUD) greater than six (out of ten) were determined as being in need;
- Areas with an 18-month underlying problem foreclosure rate (predicted by HUD) were determined as being in need;
- Areas with a high rate of high cost loans as a percentage of all loans made between 2004 and 2006 were determined as being in need, as determined from the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act reports;
- Areas with the highest concentration of residential addresses identified as being vacant for 90 days or longer by the United States Postal Service were determined as being in need;
- Areas with the highest rates of foreclosure from 2002-2006, as reported by foreclosure.com, were determined as being in need. These data were collected at the zip code level and the weighted average of the rates were assigned to census block groups;
- Areas with the highest concentration of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac pre-foreclosures, foreclosures, and bankruptcies were determined as being in need. These data were collected at the zip code level and the weighted average of the rates were assigned to census block groups.
