DISCLOSURES:

Past performance is not a guarantee or a reliable indicator of future results. An investment in the Fund could lose money over short or even long periods. You should expect the Fund's share price and total return to fluctuate within a wide range, like the fluctuations of the overall stock market. The Fund's performance could be hurt by stock market risk, which is the chance that stock prices overall will decline. Stock markets, especially foreign stocks, are volatile and can decline significantly in response to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments. Further, the Fund's performance could be hurt by investment style risk, which is the chance that returns from non-US stocks, and, to the extent that the Fund is invested in them, small and mid capitalization stocks, will trail returns from the overall domestic stock market. Historically, small and mid capitalization stocks have been more volatile in price than the large capitalization stocks that dominate the overall market, and they often perform quite differently. In addition, the Fund is subject to country/ regional risk, which is the chance that world events – such as political upheaval, financial troubles, or natural disasters – will adversely affect the value of securities issued by companies in foreign countries or regions. Because the Fund may invest a large portion of its assets in securities of companies located in any one country or region, including emerging markets, the Fund's performance may be hurt disproportionately by the poor performance of its investments in that area. Country/regional risk is especially high in emerging markets. Finally, the Fund could be hurt by currency risk, which is the chance that the value of a foreign investment, measured in US dollars, will decrease because of unfavorable changes in currency exchange rates.
