

Advanced Trauma Care for Nurses ©

The Advanced Trauma Care for Nurses (ATCN©) course is taught concurrently with the Advanced Trauma Life Support (ATLS®) for physicians. ATCN© was developed to teach established standards of care and practical, life-saving skills. This advanced trauma course is designed for nurses working in Emergency Departments, ICU, Medical Surgical floors or the Operating Room who wish to increase their knowledge and practical skills in managing multiple-trauma patients.

The course includes didactic presentations coupled with lectures, corresponding practical skill stations and moulage assessment stations that demonstrate application of didactic information.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

ATCN is overseen by the Society of Trauma Nurses. This course targets experienced nurses practicing in the following areas: Pre-hospital and Aeromedical, Emergency Department, Surgical Intensive Care Units, and the Operating Room.
