Plan for remediation of CME Deficiency:

Of note in this report is a weakness related to CME requirements of the general surgeons on call for our trauma service. Our TMD, Dr. McCurdy meets the requirements for CME's in the past year, and Dr. Baer could meet the requirements depending on how we define some of these timeframes. The other 2 surgeons would not meet this requirement.

Regardless, of these technical issues, and the ACS, in their consultative review not highlighting these weaknesses, we recognize the area of ongoing physician education in trauma to be an area where we need to grow as a program. As such we have outlined the following plan:

1. All CME accomplishments will be dash-boarded during our PEER Review Meetings so that all those present can see where they are in their progress, along with reminders of our goals in this area.
2. Between Peer Review Meeting feedback for all TS's and liaisons about their progress in CME.
3. Offerings and CME opportunities will be shared quarterly in conjunction with our CME reporting. This should help the team be aware of opportunities and plan accordingly. It will us stay more on track as the year progresses.
4. The Trauma Medical Director will follow up individually with the surgical group and our liaisons semi-annually when their reported CME accomplishments are not on target to meet goal.
