

LINDA R. EVERS

As a long-time in-house counsel, Linda serves as Relationship Manager for a number of the firm's Client Teams where she is responsible for communications with clients regarding the quality, service and value Stevens & Lee provides.

Prior to joining Stevens & Lee, Linda served as long-time in-house counsel for FirstEnergy, the largest investor-owned utility in the nation. As FirstEnergy's Pennsylvania regulatory lawyer, Linda served as lead attorney on regulatory matters concerning Metropolitan Edison (Met-Ed), Pennsylvania Electric Company (Penelec) and Pennsylvania Power Company, one of the first electric distribution companies to comply with the Commonwealth's Alternative Energy Standards.

Linda was an active participant in the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission's Alternative Energy Portfolio Standards rulemaking process and spearheaded Met-Ed and Penelec's Competitive Transition Charge Compliance filing that resulted in a significant increase in earnings.

As the editor of the blog smartgridlegalnews.com, Linda provides insight on regulatory smart grid cases on the state and federal levels. She is a participating member of the NIST Smart Grid Interoperability Panel (SGIP), a national working group which advises regulatory agencies on national smart grid standards, and attended the Mid-Atlantic Conference of Regulatory Utilities Commissioners "Smart Grid School" sponsored by the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners.

Linda is also a frequent blogger on law firm value and energy issues on LegalOnRamp.com, an online resource for in-house counsel.

Linda is a recipient of the 2010 Berks County Presidential Award of Merit for promoting diversity in the legal profession by teaching business law to grade school children.

Education:

University of Illinois College of Law, J.D., 1991
Northwestern University, B.S., 1988