Five sample discussion documents we distributed along with a list showing the frequency of standards issues amount the libraries that are currently out of standards. The taskforce held a general discussion of top standards that libraries do not comply with. The taskforce asked why libraries can't comply with all of the standards. Wendy Knapp answered, in many cases because they don’t choose to. The taskforce wanted to know if there was a correlation between the population and the libraries who do not meet standards, and if the library patrons were going elsewhere if their library doesn't meet standards or if there was a high PLAC card usage in those areas? ISL will investigate.

The group consensus was that standards were intended to support libraries in serving their communities. Nick Schenkel recommended that we focus on the majority, not the exceptions. Other recommendations:

- The percentage of population served should be a goal or objective rather than a requirement.
- There is a lot of confusion and discussion on the collection development percentage question in the annual report. There appeared to be a consensus that more training and outreach efforts on the annual report and standards would be welcome, as would the inclusion of different ebook platforms in this number.
- Recommended changing the wording from "collections" to "resources".
- There was also a strong consensus on dropping the exceptional and enhanced levels from the standards. The determination should be meets standard or does not meet standard.
There was a discussion on the use of objectives in the standards. The consensus was that objectives explained "why" and the standards explained "how".

There were questions about how to calculate the number recommended in a standard for the number of computers, INfoExpress delivery days, etc. Should it be based on percentage? Population?

Comments were repeatedly made about keeping the standards simple and not including objectives or long descriptive words.

The taskforce began doing a point by point review of Discussion Draft #2: Standards without enhanced or exceptional levels, making the following notes and changes:

- 590 IAC 6-1-4 (a) (2): "The Indiana Library and Historical Department Law under IC 4-23-7. [The group noted that the instructions need to make it clear that this citation includes the legislation covering PLAC]."

- 590 IAC 6-1-4 (b): "The library board is responsible for hiring and evaluating annually a full-time library director position with the ...

- 590 IAC 6-1-4 (f): "The library shall take advantage of orientation materials provided by the Indiana State Library for new library board trustees and training materials to all library trustees and directors annually.     appropriate librarian certificate."
    ▪ [Rewrite. Needs to be clearer.]
    ▪ [Move this section to Service area]

Discussion tabled until next meeting.

Andrea Ingmire suggested that we make it clear that these changes to the standards would be effective in 2016 since that is when the admin code will be enacted.

During the audience input period, Sara Laughlin recommended the use of goals and outcome measures, as she helped to shape in the Mississippi standards. She also stressed that the standards needed to reflect 21st century realities rather than 19th century output measures.

Steven Schmidt asked the taskforce to consider one additional issue as they review the standards.
Indiana has a small group of "volunteer" libraries. These libraries are not incorporated under PL 36-12, receive no tax support and occasionally extend service to areas covered by other libraries.
LDO would like some advice on how the state library should treat these libraries in relation to providing services and subsidies.

Meeting was adjourned at 2 p.m.

The next meeting is scheduled for August 7, 10:00 AM - 3:00 PM, at the Pulaski County Public Library, 121 S. Riverside Dr. Winamac, Indiana. 46996.
