

OCRA Community Development Block Grants (CDBG)
Duplication of Benefits Disclosure

Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds are considered the last resort funds, so OCRA must ensure that CDBG funds are only awarded after all other applicable federal funds are obligated. Due to recent federal stimulus allocations, communities applying for regular CDBG funds must complete the following disclosure information and certify that all relevant federal funds are obligated at the time of application. For this form, obligated means the funds have been committed by official action.

Federal Funds Received	Direct from a Federal Agency	Passed-through the State
CARES Act
December 2020 Consolidated Appropriation
American Rescue Plan (ARP) Act (Anticipated)
Other

Federal Funds Obligated	Direct from a Federal Agency	Passed-through the State
CARES Act
December 2020 Consolidated Appropriation
American Rescue Plan (ARP) Act (Anticipated)
Other

For any unobligated funds, does the community have a plan to use all of those funds? If there is a plan, please attach details on how the funds will be used, including a timeline, public input solicitation efforts, and partnerships. If there is no plan, the community will need to pass a local ordinance that outlines a planning effort to identify how they will be used. The planning effort must align with OCRA's comprehensive, holistic, community-led, continuous planning ethos. The final approved ordinance must be attached.
