Participating Members: Donna Wall, R.Ph., Del Fanning, R.Ph., Mark Smosna, R.Ph., Steve Anderson, R.Ph., Matt Balla, R.Ph.

Curt Ayres, CEO, Miriam Cho, Pharm D, and Jody Bogt from CAPSA were present for the variance request.

MAC Rx is requesting a variance to permit them to operate the FirstDose system as an electronic emergency kit in its current and future long-term care facilities in the state of Indiana. It is a web-based software platform that permits MAC Rx to control access to this emergency drug supply by assigning unique access codes and defining access levels for facility and pharmacy staff. It tracks every entry into the system and every patient transaction at the pharmacy 24/7. The system constantly monitors inventory levels to permit prompt replenishment, identifying expiration dates and lot numbers for auditing and allows minimal inventory levels in the system.

The use of the FirstDose Electronic Emergency Kit in Indiana facilities would improve care to the facility residents and increase compliance than the use of a tackle box system. This system would provide: Better security; better accountability; better availability; monitors drug effectiveness-monitors expiration of all drugs in the system.

The Board thanked Mr. Ayres for his presentation. They will be scheduled again in March as they must appear twice for a variance request.

He has a task list that comes up daily, weekly and monthly on the computer so staff will know what needs to be done. He then verifies that the task list has been completed. Each task has the location of instruction in the policies and procedures manual so if someone doesn't understand they can easily look up the instructions. He has certain staff assigned to take inventory and to take the expired drugs off the shelves.
