

Horace Mann student to be given award at Wizards game

Horace Mann Elementary student Kyle Miazga is one of three winners who will receive a $500 College Choice 529 Investment Plan account from their involvement with the Ft. Wayne Wizards and IDEARC Media Reading Club. The prizes will be awarded at Wednesday night's Ft. Wayne Wizards game at Memorial Stadium.

Also winning awards were Sydney McKown from Blackhawk Christian School, Fort Wayne, and Erin Adair from Emmanuel-St. Michael School, Fort Wayne.

The Ft. Wayne Wizards and IDEARC Media Reading Club challenges students across Northeastern Indiana in a variety of reading contests. Over 200 schools and over 70 libraries have participated in the IDEARC Media Reading Club over the past three years.

State Treasurer Richard Mourdock will be awarding the three accounts at the game. The award ceremony will begin at 6:35 p.m. at Memorial Stadium.

The College Choice investment Plan is a state and federal tax-advantaged program that allows families to invest for one's future education expenses. The earnings on a CollegeChoice 529 Investment Plan are exempt from federal and state income taxes when used for qualified expenses. Currently, Hoosiers who contribute to a CollegeChoice account can take a state income tax credit on 20% of their contributions, up to a $1,000 maximum credit.
